Kindergarten

Crayons

In kindergarten crayons were important to me because I loved to color. They influenced who I am today because I am still very artistic. I love to draw and color.

First Grade

Reading

In first grade I learned how to read. It was easy for me and my favorite kind of books were Dr. Seuss books. Learning how to read has influenced me today because I still love reading.

Second Grade

Knitting

In second grade Mrs. Harvey came in and taught us how to knit. Knitting took a lot of patience which I didn't have. After a while it started to become fun to me. I learned how to not rush through things and it also helped me be more patient in life.

Third Grade

Beach Sweep

In third grade we got to go to the beach and clean it up. It was really fun. I got to hold the clip board and it helped me to be organized. It taught me that picking up after yourself was very important and that littering is bad.

Fourth Grade

Handwriting

My fourth grade teacher, Mrs. Bennett, was one of my favorite teachers. I loved her writing. She wrote everyday on the board and it inspired me to make my writing neater.

Fifth Grade

The S.S. Badger

In fifth grade our class got to go on a trip to Wisconsin in the S.S. Badger. There were a lot of things to do and it was really fun. It also helped me get over my fear of riding in boats.

Sixth Grade

Geography Teacher

My sixth grade geography teacher, Mrs. Ramsey, was probably my favorite teacher. She did a lot of cool things. For example, we had a Veteran's Day, we went to Bible Camp with her, and we also learned about plate tectonics with Milky way bars. Overall, she was just a great teacher.

Seventh Grade

Band

In 7th grade I had my last year of band. I played the flute. I didn't like it very much and I don't think I was that good either. Although I love music, it made me realize that I only like listening to it and not playing it.

Eighth Grade

Math

In eighth grade math was harder for me. We had to take a state test to make it into Algebra 2 for the next year. The first time I took it I failed. It made me really upset but I just tried again. That time I passed. The whole experience taught me never to give up.

Nineth Grade

Shop

This year I had to take shop because nothing else would fit into my schedule. I was really upset at first but now that I'm into my project, I'm glad I have shop. It's fun and it taught me not to judge something before you try it.
